This house is located on a large wooded lot on the west side of North Artizan Street. It looks as though it dates from about 1900. Set well back from the street, it is a two story, four bay brick building with a semi-hexagonal projecting window bay forming an enlarged bay at the south end of the front (east) elevation. Above the projecting bay is a cross gable with a palladian window. The main entrance is located in the second bay from the south end and has a semicircular fanlight above the door. The roof is of slate. Small brick chimneys are located inside the gable ends.
